Versatile ways to delineate space and provide privacy

Pari Screens

Pari is a family of screens. Some versions are freestanding, others attach to surfaces or frames, all are tackable and share a frameless, thin profile. Their consistent details and complementary colors contribute to aesthetic continuity as they delineate space and provide privacy when used with other Herman Miller landscape systems.

Workers need privacy so they can focus and boundary that creates personal space so they feel comfortable. This is particularly so as organizations compress workstations and standardize on lower wall heights. Pari Screens address these requirements in settings across the office landscape.

Redefines

Pari represents a rethinking of the scale normally associated with boundary in office landscapes. Its tapered-edge profile and frameless design bring a lighter, leaner way to define space compared to panels. Available in a variety of heights and widths, Pari Screens provide full privacy for focused work, facilitate connection and encourage casual interaction, or a combination of both.

Unifies

Pari Screens blend seamlessly with other Herman Miller workplace solutions. By providing a consistent aesthetic—through design details and color choices—they help unify a floorplate of multiple products. Pari Screens work particularly well with Canvas Office Landscape, Layout Studio, Renew Link, and other freestanding tables.

Flexes

Pari Screens are easy to install. Most simply attach to surfaces or the furniture's structure. Screens can be temporarily attached and easily moved at any time. And freestanding Pari Screens can be moved at will. As your workplace adapts to accommodate change, you can easily reconfigure Pari Screens and add more.
